

6 Chic Campgrounds

San Onofre and San Mateo State Beach and Campground

Aside from offering top-notch views and world-class surfing, this beach and camping area enjoys the distinction of being pictured on our cover. Electricity, water, hot indoor showers and flush toilets are available. parks.ca.gov.

El Capitan Canyon

If you don't like to rough it, stay just north of Santa Barbara in one of these cedar cabins or safari tents. You can sleep in a willow bed with a down-style duvet. Also available: couples massages, fireside dinners and champagne. Hello, luxury camping! elcapitancanyon.com.

Costanoa

Depending on whether you stay in a lodge room or tent bungalow, amenities may include heated mattress pads, electricity, wi-fi, Bose stereos, gourmet BBQ food, biodegradable cutlery and use of the spa at this Pescadero campground. costanoa.com.

Global Expeditions

This company sets up luxe camps in various regions. All locations are customized based on your needs (and that includes maid service!). globalexpeditionsinc.com.

Crystal Cove

This historic district of vintage cottages and a café sits north of Laguna Beach. Popular with horseback riders and scuba divers, the place has free wi-fi and a refined clientele. parks.ca.gov.

Sequoia High Sierra Camp

The chef (yes, camping with a chef still counts as camping!) at this camp cooks with local ingredients and offers several vegan and vegetarian delights. After dinner, rest your pretty head on a feather pillow; in the morning, take a hot shower—they supply shampoo, conditioner and even hairdryers.
